TOPIC	1. Polish Troops in Bydgoszcz	25X1A
a brigadiscense yearout	2. Signal Unit in Lowicz	1996 (Milar) quillu is com identifica (massicians excess
EVALUATION_	ZUNIA	tick vollefor ein Giller soll für seiter. Aus ca. son
	25X1A
DATE OF CON
DATE OBTAIN	The second secon	ensamen de uma en empende en sans electronis de finale
	State Square Annual Control of the C
PAGES	3 ENCLOSURES (NO. & TYPE)	- Marina di Alaman (marina) sa di Alama yindi sa
REMARKS		n sommer som til de se complete som s
ar 26-547 Consultar Ricerto State (1884) de valor de la consultar de la consul		ety om makese kviskemer video talek valve
es - entenun processo representativo manusco e ester frante provincia e con-		makan barasan kalan Makamatan mengana 25X1)
n- ner- errerid (value toto syrate ny distribute españ).		CARAMERA Expensión activo activo en
	Polish Troops in Bydgoszcz.  Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north
	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered
	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier
	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Earracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen from the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops were red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons.
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Earracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of & or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen from the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops were red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons. There were only a few vehicles at the barracks installation. Training took place in the barracks yard or at the training area of the post
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Earracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of & or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops were red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons. There were only a few vehicles at the barracks installation. Training took place in the barracks yard or at the training area of the post northeast of the town. Elements of a KBW regiment with a total strength of about 7 companies were in the north section of the barracks installation while other components of the regiment were billeted in other barracks
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen from the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops were red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons. There were only a few vehicles at the barracks installation. Training took place in the barracks yard or at the training area of the post northeast of the town. Elements of a KBW regiment with a total strength of about 7 companies were in the north section of the barracks installation while other components of the regiment were billeted in other barracks in the town. CO of the regiment was a colonel who was frequently seen at the barracks installation.	on,
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of 4 or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen trom the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops wore red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons. There were only a few vehicles at the barracks installation. Training took place in the barracks yard or at the training area of the post northeast of the town. Elements of a KEW regiment with a total strength of about 7 companies were in the north section of the barracks installation while other components of the regiment were billeted in other barracks in the town. CO of the regiment was a colonel who was frequently seen at the barracks installation.  The particle of service to or and was attached to a higher-level KBW headquarters in Eydgoszcz.	on, e 25X
1	Polish KBW and infantry units were quartered at the former Artillery Barracks which were located at the intersection of Artyleryska Street (north side) and Al. 1-go Maja south of Polnocna Street in the north section of Bydgoszcz (Bromberg P 54/J 09). The old barracks installation had been repaired and consisted of about 20 four-story brick buildings including 2 large angular buildings and was divided into two sections. A battalion-sized animal-drawn infantry unit of A or 5 companies, with cover number 5521 A, was quartered in the south section of the barracks. This unit was attached to the headquarters of a two-digit numbered infantry division which was quartered in a large multi-story building at the west end and south of Posnanska Street. According to a soldier the headquarters building was guarded by infantrymen from the former Artillery Barracks. The infantry troops were red collar patches and red cap ribbons and were armed with light infantry weapons. There were only a few vehicles at the barracks installation. Training took place in the barracks yard or at the training area of the post northeast of the town. Elements of a KEW regiment with a total strength of about 7 companies were in the north section of the barracks installation while other components of the regiment were billeted in other barracks in the town. CO of the regiment was a colonel who was frequently seen at the barracks installation.  That the regiment were blue service tolor and was attached to a higher-level KBW	on, e 25X 25X

B

CLASSIFICATION SECRET,

SECTOR,

25X1A

... 2 ...

service color and shirtlike blouses.

at the officers' school, were pentagram-snaped collar natches with yellow oak leaves, a sword and, on the blue epaulets, the interlaced letters CS embroidered with yellow threads and narrow silver braids at the end of his khaki coat sleeve. His trousers were dark-blue with a 50-mm broad stripe of still darker blue color, 1

25X1X

- 3. A nine-man Soviet signal detail wearing black engulets was quartered in a large building of this barracks installation prior to February 1951. It was charged with Soviet long-distance communications. No other Soviet units or headquarters were known. A few Soviet officers were occasionally seen in the town.
- 4. Elements of the KBW regiment also occupied to capacity the barracks installation routheast of the main railroad station on the south side of Zygmunta Augusta Street close to source's working place. The installation consisted of about 10 multi-story buildings and was surrounded by a brick wall. To rotor vehicles or heavy weapons were observed. 3
- 5. An officer candidate school for various branches, including KEV, was in the former filitary academ on the east side of AL. 1-go laja opposite the former Artillery larracks until February 1951. This school consisted of a large four-story building with wings and some smaller buildings. To KEV or infantry candidates were quartered in that school; they only came to attend specific courses.4
- 6. The local volvodship headquarters of the Citizens' Militia was on the west side of Gdanska Street between Chocirska and Swietjanska Streets about 500 meters south of the former Artillery Farracks.

Signal Unit in Louicz.

7. About 4 a.r. on 13 September 1952, were parking in the north section of Lowicz (Q 53/F 27) west of the main railroad line to Foznan (Fosen F 53/X 26).

25X1X

25X1A

Although numerous reports by resettlers on the former Artillery and Infantry Farracks are available and date about the rame period, the situation remains unclear because of numerous inconsistencies.

The 9th KFW Regt, to which the reported units appear to belong, is carried stationed in Bydgoszcz. The headquarters of the 2d MD is carried as arry office, while no division headquarters was reported. There is a possibility that the headquarters of the 14th Inf Div stationed in Deutsch Krone (Walcz) may have been in Bydgoszcz during the period under observation. The reports on the KEW uniforms appear to be correct.

SECRET,

25X1A

SECRET/

. 3 ...

25X1A

- 2. Comment. Similar Soviet units were known to be stationed along the Soviet transit lines throughout Poland.
- 25X1A 3. Comment. According to another report, this barracks installation was vacant in August 1951. The KBW unit was possibly absent in August 1951.
- 25X1A 4. Comment. It is believed that the headquarters of the 2d MD has been quartered there since the surrer of 1951. A KBW school was reported in the former Artillery Barracks in June 1951.

SECRET/